Mitchell Trio's Folk Concert Held In Field House Friday

By Judy Wilson

Attention all folk-song lovers! The Mitchell Trio will appear in the Omaha University Field House, November 19 at 8 p.m. The student center program committee contracted the group last spring.

Thought-provoking is a good description of their musical renditions. They revise the words to traditional folk-type songs in order to convey a deeper message. They consider incorporation of social and political themes especially important.

The trio obtains its material from such sources as satirical reviews, field recordings and Library of Congress archives. These new folk songs have as much validity and vitality as the generation-old tunes according to the group.

Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington, was the birthplace of the trio. They skyrocketed into fame through nightclub and TV work. Appearances include ones on the Ed Sullivan Show, Tonight Show, and Hullabaloo.

The threesome sees their work as an expression of the times preserved in music. They consider themselves as "singers of history" as well as entertainers.

The group has appeared at more than 40 prominent colleges throughout the country. The U.S. State Department sponsored them in a 15 week tour of Latin America for a special international program for cultural presentation.

Morrison Guest On OU Campus Coming Monday

Governor Frank Morrison will speak on the press and politics Monday, November 15, at 9:30 a.m. in AA 221. He will be the guest of the journalism department and has been invited to speak to the Reporting of Public Affairs class.

This speech will be one of the first the Governor has given since his return from Europe. He is one of many speakers who have been invited to speak to journalism classes. Others have been Lester K. Smith, Omaha Chief of Police; Ralph Bradley, Public Relations Director for the Omaha Public Schools; Dr. Edwin Lyman, Omaha, Douglas County Health Director; Douglas Stewart, Executive Director of the Urban League; Mrs. Jane Vance, Planned Parenthood Director and Dick Walter, Theatrical Promoter.

Paul Peterson, Journalism Department chairman said, "By bringing the various public officials into the classroom, the students are exposed to the practical side of their future field, and they also have a chance to meet the people with whom they will deal."

This Is My Country; Theme of Y.R. Show

By Bob Erxleben

At last week's city council meeting the University of Omaha Young Republicans Club presented a petition to the council supporting U.S. policy in Viet Nam. The council passed a resolution adopting the petition and urged all citizens to join in support of our fighting men in Viet Nam. The petition was then signed by Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen and the members of the city council.

YR President Nancy Schneiderwind was then asked to address the council. She began by informing the group that a letter had been received from a serviceman in Viet Nam, in response to the Young Republicans' "WRITE TO AN AMERICAN SERVICEMAN" campaign. At the council members' request she read them the letter.

OUSO Show

The petition has been hung in city hall for all citizens to see and sign. It will be presented to a representative of the Armed Services at a YR sponsored OUSO show scheduled for November 25. The USO-type show will feature OU entertainers, with individual singing, dancing and instrumental acts sharing the spotlight with bands and combos. The Thanksgiving night program will begin at 7:30 at Peony Park. Tickets are on sale at one dollar per person at The Crossroads, The Center, City Hall and outside the Bookstore of the Student Center. Tickets may also be ordered by mail. A stamped, self-addressed envelope is required. Orders are to be addressed in care of OUSO, The University of Omaha, Omaha, Nebraska.

The theme of the show is "This is my Country", and is divided into four segments—one for each branch of the services: Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines. Gail Rowden, the current Miss Omaha, will serve as mistress of ceremonies for the show which includes a pantomime act by Noreen Sorenson, last year's Miss Council Bluffs, and the music of Larry Allen and the Jokers, the group that recorded "Tell 'Em That You Care."

Leadership Training

Other YR activity included a two-day Region Seven Leadership Training School for Young Republicans held November 5-6 in Kansas City, Kansas. The session was the first of its kind to be held on a regional basis. Six OU Young Republicans were among the 25 representing Nebraska. The bulk of the conventioners came from Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The purpose of the convention was to train college students to take positions of leadership in their party, to form and develop new ideas and to have an interchange of programs on what's taking place on college campuses.

Plug From Cunningham

And, from our nation's capitol comes words of praise for the Young Republicans' "WRITE TO AN AMERICAN SERVICEMAN" campaign. Nebraska Congressman Glen Cunningham took the floor to tell his fellow congressmen of the support being given our fighting men in Viet Nam by a student group at the University of Omaha.

Cunningham's words of praise for the efforts of the OU club were recorded in the November 2 "Congressional Record."

New Bus to Aid Student Patrons

The Omaha Transit Company is putting an additional bus on the Eastbound route, leaving from 62 and Dodge Streets at 2:20 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Mr. Harold Roth of the Omaha Transit Company said that this will be an additional service to take care of the overload at that time. The decision was made after a full week of investigating. Mr. Roth said that apparently the classes are overloaded on the afternoons that the extra bus is being added.

There will be buses leaving on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 2:10, 2:20, and 2:30 p.m. The bus that arrives at 2:20 will leave at 2:25 p.m. The five minute wait will give students who have a 1:30 class a chance to make the bus.

Buildings May Be Permanent

How "permanent" are the engineering buildings on campus?

The administration's answer came from Kirk Naylor, Dean of the Administration. "We should bear in mind the old adage that there is nothing so permanent as a temporary building."

Last spring the administration decided to move drafting classes from the Applied Arts building into temporary structures to make more room for faculty offices.

Two buildings were obtained from Westside High School and moved to the OU campus during the summer.

Both the engineering department and the administration consider the present arrangement necessary until a permanent engineering building can be constructed.

Earlier this year, OU did not receive a federal grant that was necessary for building a proposed $2 million structure for the engineering and science departments. Criteria for the grant included the present floor space, increase in floor space from the new building, utilization of existing class rooms and labs, and projected University enrollment.

Dean Naylor said Kearney State's need was considered greater at that time so Kearney received the federal grant.

Until OU makes a new attempt to gain federal funds or a private individual makes a substantial gift to build an engineering-science complex, they will be a "permanent" structure on campus.

Traffic Route Opens

Campus traffic can now flow into West Dodge on a one-way route.

The Elmwood Park road east of the Administration Building became a north-bound street this week. Parking switched from the west to the east side of the road.

But the campus road which carries traffic in and out of the Adm. Building parking lots will handle both north and south-bound cars.

The new routing is the result of traffic planning in connection with the widening of Dodge to five lanes, with an OU turn-off at 60th Street.

Today is the last day that a student can drop a course without receiving an automatic F grade on his transcript.

Nebraska's Governor Frank Morrison will speak Monday, at 9:30 a.m. in 221 AA. The public is invited.

Editorial Voice

Some criticism has been raised, and faint cries of favoritism are in the air over what some have termed "publicity" of the activities of OU's Young Republicans. The YR's have received front page coverage in two of the last three issues of the GATEWAY. This week they again occupy a prominent position on page one. Favoritism? It is not!

This paper is not a public relations journal aimed at giving publicity to ANY faculty member, student or organization. The purpose of this paper is to report news. The Young Republicans make news.

Should any other on campus organization work up the ambition and initiative to DO SOMETHING, their efforts will be duly recorded in the GATEWAY. This comment is not aimed specifically at the YR's counterparts, the Young Democrats—it applies to ALL organizations on campus: Young Democrats, Student Council, class officers, Greeks, et. al.

When any or all of these groups shake off their apathy and undertake some constructive activity, rather than being content to rest on their laurels, the GATEWAY will be only too happy to make it known.

It might even make page one.

Letters To The Editor

Editor of the Gateway:

I would like to share part of this letter with the readers of the GATEWAY.

"To . . . a wonderful girl, my fiancée, whom I should be with right now, but here I am fighting Communism and you know, if it wasn't for helping those poor people and getting some sort of satisfaction out of it. Even the small, minute part I have in helping these people makes me feel good inside. The only thing I dislike is the stupid, misinformed, narrow-minded college kids back home demonstrating against us being in Viet Nam. It makes me sick to think we're down there trying to help these people and those idiot, cowardly draft dodgers are back there safe and sound trying to tell us we're wrong. I'm not the biggest person in the world, but I'll try and break anybody's neck when I get home if he tells me we're wrong in fighting in Viet Nam.

Yesterday we had a helicopter come in. The pilot was shot in the chest. We took him off the copter and while the doctor was examining him he died on the ramp. This is what happens here day after day, people dying to fight Communism and those demonstrators think they're doing us a favor. I'd better change the subject. It's just that this is my pet peeve, and everyone else's out here, too."

I am very proud of this man and every other serviceman.

Thank you.

4 November 1965
Chu-Lai,
Republic of Vietnam

Dear Fellow Republicans,

I read in the Pacific Stars and Stripes today of your support for the war here in Vietnam. My morale jumped sky-high when I saw the article. My platoon (52 men) and I want to thank you all from the bottom of our hearts that you are showing support for this fight against the Communists. For awhile every paper we read was filled with anti-U. S. policy protests for its involvement here in South Vietnam. Thank God that there are still college students in the U.S. who appreciate our global responsibilities in holding the line against the Communist expansion policies.

My company landed at Chu-Lai on 7 May 1965, and we have been here ever since. We were originally Co. "G", 2nd Battalion, 4th Marines and have been redesignated Co. "I", 3d Battalion, 7th Marines. After fighting the Viet Cong for six months, we know he can be defeated. We have beaten him in every fight so far.

Three of my friends have been killed in action so far. They were young college graduates who knew the importance of defeating the V.C. As long as you support our stand, they will not have died in vain.

After reading the newspaper articles regarding your support, I was proud to have graduated from the University of Omaha. (BA '62)

Sincerely yours,
Tom Hopkins

Aid Is Available To OU Students

The deadline for applying for grants, aids and scholarships for the spring semester will be January 1, 1966.

Although it is not necessary to reapply for scholarships some financial grants must be applied for every semester.

One of the many loans available is the National Defense Loan from which a student may borrow up to five hundred dollars and not make any payments or pay interest until one year after graduation.

In order to apply for aid, a student must be in good standing and must carry 12 hours or more. For further information contact the office of the Dean of Student Personnel, Adm. 240.

More Books Used By OU's Students

The total number of books and periodicals that faculty and students have utilized so far this semester from the Gene Eppley Library has reached 65,396.

This figure is more than 8000 over last year's amount for the same period of time, said Ray Means, associate librarian. Usage on reserve books and periodicals each increased over 3000, he added.

An item of interest to students is the November issue of the Atlantic Monthly, which contains a section entitled: "The Troubled Campus."

Lefler and his "Texas-style" gavel (story below).

'Texas-Style Hammer' Given To Lefler At 13th Plant Meet

Clarence Lefler now has a 12½ pound gavel.

The head of campus planning and development was presented the "Texas gavel" at the 13th Annual Convention of the Central States Regional Association of Physical Plant Administrators last week.

Lefler said that the Texas-style gavel is presented to the host of the annual convention.

The idea of the big hammer originated in 1956, when Southern Methodist's physical plant director Stanley Patterson hosted the convention. A "bunch of Texans" were attending the meeting and Patterson thought that it would be a great idea to bring out this giant hammer.

OU's Element Beats Meters Speakers Get Fun, Practice

By Mike Condon

Due to many deadbeats' dismay, the University of Omaha hasn't had a single incident of draft card burning.

Many students wonder if they can maintain their status without coming from a controversial institution.

Pickets are at a minimum. Not even a "Ban the Bomb" placard has graced our atmosphere. Demonstrations lose their emphasis before they cross the Rocky Mountains.

The OU "Ism"

However, one particular incident reveals an undercurrent of intrigue and vicious brutality, secretly manifesting itself in the vast student body—meter beating!

Under the dim cover of early dawn, agents for this "ism" are observed recklessly entering a parking lot, depositing a metallic disc into a strange machine, and upon hearing what evidently is a secret code, savagely attack the vertical timepiece.

Counter Measures

Counter measures are being taken. Operatives of this institution are on watch, continually trying to decipher the meaning of these sadistic attacks upon the asphalt sentinals.

Subversive? Yes! But it's on the move. In the near future, agents will circulate brochures, agitators will incite and coerce protests and rallies. A campaign for a "monstrous meter mash" should be the focal point of the movement. A long-handled sledge hammer is the banner.

Throw off the yoke of suppression: arise and put OU on the collegiate map.

The "ice breaker" and the "ah meter" are part of a campus activity dedicated to better speaking and fun.

The weekly activity is Speakeasies. Students interested in speaking and fun gather in BSC Alcoves C and D each Tuesday to eat and give brief speeches.

This fall there are two sessions on Tuesday. The one at 11:30 is headed by Jim Cunningham. Dale McLean is chairman of the 5:30 session.

The very informal sessions begin with the "ice breaker" speech. Usually it lasts about five minutes and may be about the person's philosophy or biography.

With the ice broken, the chairman hands out topics to each person. Topics may cover personal ideas or current events.

Speakers may talk as briefly or as long as they wish. However they must watch out for the "terrible ah meter." Every time a speaker says, "Ah," someone drops a penny into the meter. The fewer ahs, the fewer clunks.

The best speaker of the week gets an "ice breaker" trophy that he returns the next week.

Interested students may contact Speakeasies faculty sponsor, Duane Aschenbrenner, Room 315A Adm. for further information. Aschenbrenner is the University debate coach.

Japanese 'Macbeth'

A Japanese interpretation of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" will be Monday's entry in OU's Foreign Film Series.

"Throne of Blood" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Center Auditorium. The film deals with a power-hungry sixteenth century war lord during the Sengoku civil wars.

Playwright's Brother Talks At Corinthian Society Fete

W. Dakin Williams, brother of American playwright Tennessee Williams, will speak at the Corinthian Society Banquet at the University of Omaha, November 30.

Art Instructors Sell Their Work

The Palmerton-Buchanan art duo at Joslyn Memorial Art Museum has meant profits for two of the Omaha University art instructors.

As of this week, Tom Palmerton, instructor of commercial art and water color, is the wealthier of the pair. His purse totals approximately $1,600 from the two-man show. Three of his paintings recently sold for $400 each. They are "Breeze from Missouri," "White Light" and "A Little Bit of Her."

Sidney Buchanan sold his welded steel sculpture, "Mrs. Brown You Have a Lovely Bumper," for $300. The instructor of ceramics said that the title may have been the reason the work was sold.

Mr. Williams, assistant U.S. attorney for Eastern Illinois, will address OU's top students and members of the faculty at the 6 p.m. banquet in the Milo Bail Student Center.

His speech concerns his brother's background for writing, from his early childhood to his Broadway success. Mr. Williams will also give readings from the playwright's poems and his early work, "The Glass Menagerie".

The speaker is a writer himself, having published numerous magazine articles and a book, Nails of Protest. He has been active in the lecture field for several years.

The banquet will bring together OU's top students, all of whom are juniors with a 3.5 accumulative average.

Students and faculty will have an additional chance to speak with Mr. Williams. He will be special guest at a coffee hour at 4 p.m., November 30, in the MBSC.

ROTC Sabres Drill At Dawn

Omaha U's field house is the scene of an early morning ritual. Curious? The AFROTC Sabres converge each dawn 6:30 a.m. for close order drill.

Sophomores with the responsibility of training the new Sabres perform the role of instructors.

Despite the adverse conditions of a drill exhibition early in the semester, the Sabres always put on a first class performance.

Although the Sabres find satisfaction in the perfection of drill competition, they also pursue academic distinction.

Last May the Sabres took second place at the Boulder Invitational Drill Meet at Boulder, Colorado.

According to Cadet Captain William J. Michalenke, the Sabres' commander, the cadets are learning quickly and the prospect of a first place at Boulder is not beyond their reach.

Tidbits From The Butcher Shop

Clear Course . . .

OU President Leland Traywick made it clear Tuesday morning that you and I as students will determine the future of night football and the advancement of the entire sports program.

Doctor Traywick was asked just how he was going to determine the interest here at school . . . he replied, "By how many of our students are willing to see us play at Fort Hays for the CIC title this week and then at Drake next week."

That is plain and simple language in anybody's book. The head man was making it plain that he, for one, would be at Fort Hays tomorrow night and that he expected a few of you to make it as well.

Making it clear that it would be a task to finance lights and new added seats here on campus, Traywick stated, "I hope that maybe we can get some interested Omaha businessmen to chip in or maybe we will have to ask many for smaller funds to finance the operation."

He then said, "I really believe that interest is on the upgrade here this year and that it will continue in the years to come."

The President agreed that promotion of spirit and backing here at OU will have to come from student organizations, but he feels confident that this will happen.

Here is the game, kiddies, and it's very simple. Hays, Kansas, is 250 miles from Omaha by way of Hastings and so on. It's a nice drive and you'll see the CIC title at stake.

The following week is Drake at Des Moines, a mere 147 miles on a good Interstate Highway. Two easy drives for good football fans. Let's see who are the real fans these next two games.

There's a lot to be said for traveling to see good football . . .

Scraps of This and That . . .

Congratulations to the cheerleaders who have missed the last two games because they had other plans or had to study. What the hell do you bother for? Northern Illinois drew a crowd of 19,000 for its opener in their new stadium last weekend. Looks like they have a great future.

Rumor has it that the All-Sports Bowl, interested in Omaha this year, has folded for financial reasons.

OU's ace distance runner Ken Gould was unbeaten in ten meets this year and set a new school mark. Look out for him November 27th at Elmwood Park in the NAIA Championships.

OU drew almost 28,000 fans in five games this year, a new school attendance record.

Gould Pushes Victories to 11

He just keeps rollin' along.

Omaha University's Ken Gould, emerging as one of the midwest's top cross country runners, extended his winning streak to 11 with victories Saturday and Tuesday.

His weekend first came at the midwest AAU Meet at Kearney. Gould covered the four-mile distance in 20:19.5 to help his OU teammates to second place behind the host Antelopes, 20 to 43.

Tuesday, he set a school record with a time of 20:27 as OU won its second meet of the year, 26 to 20, over Midland, at Elmwood Park.

The Indians Gerald Shook, with a time of 22:32, and Wayne Boldt, with a clocking of 23:45, finished third and fifth respectively. Both times were season lows for the two runners.

What's To Come?

by Leo Meidlinger

The usually very committal Jim Borsheim was just the opposite this week.

Borsheim declared that his Omaha University basketball team was "progressing on schedule," and no more.

True, it's tough to completely analyze a team with as many peculiar qualities as Borsheim has assembled after only three weeks of fall practice, but Borsheim's non-committal attitude could be, something more than just cautiousness.

Wait and see.

PE M and M's Seek National Frat Chapter

The Big One

OU To Challenge Hard-Nosed Tigers For Crown Tomorrow

By Leo Meidlinger

As someone once said—"This is it fellas. All the marbles are on the table. Pick them up."

For Omaha University's football Indians, tomorrow's game against Fort Hays is IT.

The two teams won't be playing for marbles, but for the Central Intercollegiate Conference championship, and possibly post-season laurels (That's a bowl game for you less than astute football fans).

Both OU and Fort Hays hold 3-0 league marks. The Indians hold the over-all edge, 7-1 to 6-2.

The Tigers will be perhaps the toughest team the Indians have faced all year. They have adequate size, good execution, and perhaps most important, excellent team speed.

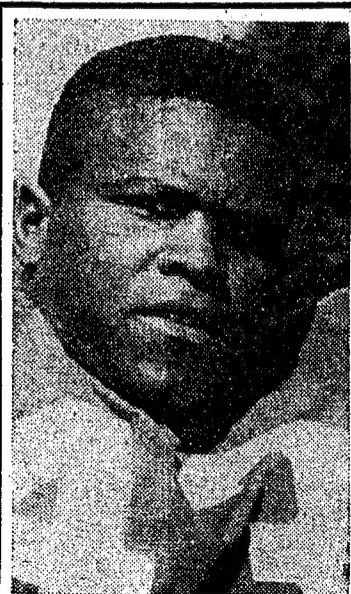

Assistant coach Carl Meyers viewed the Kansas club in action last week against Pittsburg State. Fort Hays won the game 21 to 7 and Meyers got an eyefull of what to expect from the Tigers this week.

Meyers listed junior quarterback Bob Johnson as the key to the team's attack. Johnson is 5-10 and 155, but his size does not belie his game generalship and confidence in himself.

He's an excellent runner, according to Meyers, and possesses quickness and balance to offset his somewhat precarious size. The junior signal caller against Pittsburg depended on himself in many tight situations, and looking back at the score apparently got the job done.

He's most effective on roll-outs and sweeps.

The rest of the backfield, although considerably bigger than

Defensive cornerman Cal McGruder is this week's CENTER BANK PLAYER OF THE WEEK for his fine all around play in Omaha's 46-14 win over Emporia State last week.

The senior letter winner made numerous jarring tackles that held Emporia to only 9 completions in 32 attempts for 73 yards. Cal's play was described as his best of the year.

He is now eligible for the PLAYER OF THE YEAR AWARD to be given at the end of the season.

Johnson, does possess many of the same qualities that make Johnson such a threat.

Fullback Rich Dreiling is six feet and 189 pounds of hard-nosed football player, according to Meyers, and is the team's best running back.

Although definitely not a break-away threat, Meyers reported that Dreiling must be hit to be brought down and is also an excellent blocker. The scout told head coach Al Caniglia that Dreiling is "the best fullback OU will face all year."

Halfback Bob Anthony, a 6-foot, 175-pounder, is also a hard runner and is a dangerous screen pass receiver. Meyers reported that Anthony released himself from the backfield on many plays during last week's game and was potentially a threat on every play.

5-9, 175-pound Tom Stevens played a unique role last week. Playing right halfback he never touched the ball, but acted as Johnson's main blocking back. Meyers rated him excellent in his role.

In comparison, the Hays offense is likened to that Woody Hayes used when Ohio State was in its most recent heyday. Straight ahead, hard-nosed football, with Dreiling doing most of the damage, and content to eat up three and four yards at a time. That type of play is time consuming and also frustrating to a team like OU with a more explosive brand of offensive play. On the defensive side of the board, the Tigers also carry impressive credentials.

The Kansas club, going into the Pittsburg contest, ranked as the number one pass defense team in the NAIA. The Tigers had allowed just 42.4 yards per game through the airplanes, an enviable mark no matter what the competition.

The figure is impressive, but considering the Kansas club has had only 111 passes thrown into its secondary, it is not overbearing.

Hays' defense against the ground game isn't quite as good. The Tigers have given up 171-plus-yards per game compared to just over 150-yards for the Indians.

This will be OU's stiffest test to date and should be a whale of a game for those Indians fans lucky enough to get to Fort Hays. OU backers won't be disappointed . . . it'll be OU 27 to 14.

Two-Way Tie For League Point Title

Gary Paporella of the Warriors and Ed Neel of the Satellites tied for the intramural football league scoring championship.

Paporella scored eight touchdowns and two extra points for his 50 point total, while Neel scored seven six-pointers and eight extra points while reaching the same total.

Jerry Taureti of the Animals was third in scoring with 30 points on five touchdowns.

Briscoe Sets Mark

Tenth-Ranked Indians Top Helpless Hornets, 46-14

by Mike Moran

Omaha University's potent footballers moved to the threshold of a third Central Intercollegiate Conference football title by crushing outmanned Emporia State, 46-14, before 4,440 at OU Stadium Saturday.

The go-go Indians piled up a 46-0 lead in a little less than three quarters before head coach Al Caniglia turned the game humanely over to the Omaha subs, who almost continued the rout.

Omaha's Little-All Americans were great. Junior quarterback Marlin Briscoe hit on 13 of 15 passes for 196 yards and four touchdowns. In doing so, the Scrambler erased the single season passing mark of 1,125 yards set in 1963 by Carl Meyers. The OU ace now has 1,309 yards via the air lanes this year.

Senior Gerry Allen scored four touchdowns, two of them on 43 yard passes from Briscoe, and pushed his rushing total for the year to 623 yards, just 83 short of an OU single season mark and 106 short of a career rushing record.

In all, Omaha ground out 406 yards over land and air in upping its CIC mark to 3-0 and the season log to 7-1. The NAIA's tenth rated team had no trouble.

Allen rambles

Allen got Omaha on the board quickly in the opening minutes by taking a Briscoe pitchout and rolling 13 yards for the score. Briscoe made the pitch as he was going down.

Omaha marched back to make it 14-0 after one period when Briscoe hit split end Bill Haas with an 18 yard scoring toss to climax a 39 yard drive set up by Harold Lenz's pass interception at the Emporia 43.

The Indians scored three more touchdowns in the second quarter to go on top at intermission by 34-0.

Allen got number two as he was on the receiving end of a 43 yard Briscoe aerial just into the second stanza. George Blankenship's kick made it 21-0.

Minutes later, it was the Briscoe-Haas aerial combination again, this time for a 10 yard scoring toss that had been set up by some key receptions by flanker Donny Crum, who was subbing for Rick Davis, the regular who was suffering disciplinary action.

The final tally in the half was a beauty. Briscoe hit Allen in the flat with a screen pass and Gerry weaved his way in and out of Emporia defenders 43 yards for paydirt. Jimmy Jones' block at the five made it easy for Allen.

Go, Billy, go . . .

The Indians wasted no time in the second half. Specialist Billy Barber, an unsung senior from Morristown, N.J. by way of Nevada U and Southern Colorado State, took the kickoff and streaked 93 yards down the right sidelines untouched for the touchdown.

Minutes later, Briscoe's 36 yard scramble to the Emporia three after a second Lenz interception set up Allen's fourth touchdown. The final tally gave Omaha a 46-0 lead with 3:32 left in the third period. That was all for the regulars.

The shock troops, using a backfield of Lew Garrison at quarterback, Doug Young or Greg Kavan at fullback, Pat Smagacz at slotback and rookies Oscar Pulliam and Al Anderson in the line, moved the ball well and almost scored in the fourth quarter after driving to the E-State five. Garrison's fumble on fourth and goal ended the threat. Lew's quarterbacking was a surprise and he showed many of Briscoe's moves on occasion.

Hapless Emporia scored twice in the last four minutes on a punt return by Greg Nunn and a 23 yard pass play on the last play of the game.

Stars Take 20-17 Win Over Champs

by Gary Anderson

The All-Stars handed the Fugitives their only loss of the season Tuesday as they outscored the championship team 20-17.

Fugitives struck first on a 15 yard field goal by Chip Gigliotti.

The All-Stars then got into gear as Mike O'Doherty swept in from the five and later fired a 20 yard pass to Jim Carlson to hold the lead at the half 13-3.

The Fugitives then showed why they are the league and play-off champions. Joe Sturek scored on a two yard end run and Rich Vomacka raced 35 yards with an intercepted pass to put the Fugitives in the lead 17-13.

The All-Stars wouldn't say die, however, as O'Doherty spiraled a pass to Ed Neel who completed the remainder of the 45 yard route with ease. Dennis Crum then kicked his second extra point to put the All-Stars in the lead 20-17.

In the playoff game for the championship, the Fugitives whipped the Satellites 14-7 for the flag football crown Monday.

In the fraternity playoff game, PiKaps used an efficient defense to defeat Lambda Chi 12-0.

The three league intramural basketball season began Wednesday with the

Olympian Holuza Solves Car Problem By Walking

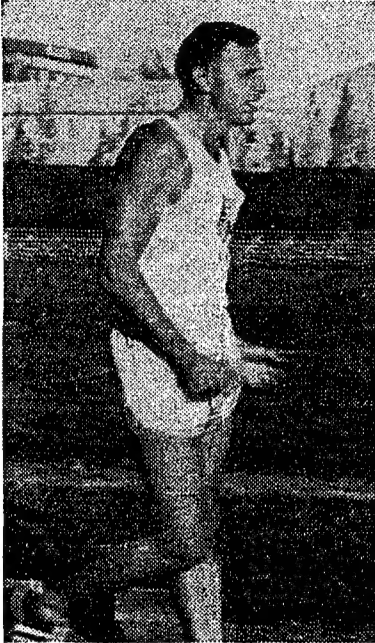

by Livi Bergman

One person who beats the campus parking problem is USA record holder and Olympic walking competition, Capt. Rudy Holuza.

By walking the two miles to school and home each day, he saves money avoids the frustration of hunting for a parking place, and is able to stay in condition.

A Competitive Walk

But his competitive walk is much different from his regular walk, as this reporter learned after watching Rudy practice on the track Monday afternoon.

As Rudy puts it, "Your hips shake and your arms move back and forth. Little kids laugh—your whole body is moving except your head. But this movement keeps you in balance.

He admitted that he is kidded a lot about walking, but when he walks, he really flies as this writer can verify.

Walking Versus Running

What distinguishes fast walking from running? As Rudy explained, "Running is when both feet are off the ground at the same time. When you're walking fast, the heel of one foot and the toe of the other are both touching the ground for a split second. There are judges all around to make sure there is no running," he said.

The closest place in the mid-west where competitive walking is done is Kansas City or Chicago. Rudy got interested in it in New York after being a cross-country runner in high school and for New York City's Queen's College.

First Win

He joined a local track club in 1951 at 21 and won the second

Basketball Clinic Tonite at 7 In FH

Omaha University and cage coach Jim Borsheim will host a special basketball clinic tonight at 7 o'clock in the Field House.

Former Hamlin University All-American Johnny Norlander, a long-time pro star with the now defunct Washington Capitols, will be the guest instructor.

According to Borsheim the clinic will deal strictly with the fundamentals of the game.

All Omaha area high school and YMCA coaches and players are invited to attend.

race he was in, a one-mile handicap. "That's probably what convinced me to stick with it," he admitted.

In 1952, he won a 10-mile handicap. He belatedly entered the Olympic Team trials in 1956, but finished 12th and failed to make the team.

In 1957, he won his first USA Championship of 20 kilometers. Rudy won it again in 1959, to earn him a place on the two-man United States team that competed against the Russians, that year in Philadelphia. He came in third behind the two Russians.

In 1960, Rudy earned a place on the US Olympic Team at the trials, but at the Rome Olympics, he became ill with dysentery and finished 24th.

One of his biggest moments came in 1964 when he broke the 45-year-old USA One Hour Walking Record. He covered seven miles and 1,614 yds. topping the 1918 record of seven miles, 1,450 yds.

In the Olympic trials of that year, he was in the lead at the end of the first 26 of the 31 miles until he became ill and had to quit. He ate too close to the race, was nervous, and got sick, he admitted sheepishly.

Looking Ahead

He is now training for the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) trials to qualify for the team that will walk against the Russians in Los Angeles in 1966. And he's also looking forward to the 1968

Mexico City Olympics where he hopes to compete.

Nutrition Important

Nutrition plays an important part in Rudy's training. He's taking "Nutrition and Dietetics" at OU to learn more about it. He is one of two men in the almost all-girl class.

And he puts his knowledge to practice. "I do all my own cooking and haven't eaten a meal out since I got here," he said, "not even here at school."

He normally has only two meals a day—breakfast and dinner. He skips lunch because he works out every afternoon except Friday for one to two hours and he gets sick if he eats too close to a race or practice.

He eats a high-protein, low-fat diet with some carbohydrates for energy. Ironically, with all his interest in food, it was food that made him quit those two important Olympic races in 1960 and 1964.

OU Walking Club?

Rudy and Ernie Gorr, OU physical education instructor are trying to promote interest in walking at OU. "It's fun and is one of the best all-around conditioners," Rudy said. He and Mr. Gorr would like to see walking on an intramural or club basis. He urged interested persons to contact himself or Mr. Gorr and said he would be willing to act as a coach.

Rudy is an Air Force Bootstrapper majoring in math.

Seniors Hold Meeting, Name New Treasurer

Captain Arnie Jensen, a bootstrapper, was named treasurer of the senior class at their first meeting of the year last Thursday.

The senior class fee was set by a vote of the class at $10.00. This includes $3.00 for the senior class gift, $3.50 for the senior dinner dance plus $3.00 for those who wish to bring a date who is not a member of the senior class, and $.50 for miscellaneous items such as postage, posters, and Senior Day.

Two Dinner Dances

The senior class will have two dinner dances this year, one to accommodate January and March graduates and another for June graduates. January 28 is the date of the first dinner dance which is being planned by a senior class committee. Those seniors who wish to come to both dances may do so by paying the dinner dance fee twice.

A committee was also set up to gather ideas for the senior class gift to the school. Those class members having suggestions may submit them by dropping their written proposals in OU Post Office Box 96.

Seniors may also submit written nominations to Box 96 for two class sponsors. In the past, one sponsor has given a speech and the other "The Charge to the Senior Class" at Commencement Exercises. A committee has been organized to help in the selection.

Collection tables will be set up in the Milo Bail Student Center Dec. 1, 2, and 3 to receive senior class fees. Mr. Jensen stressed early payment and reservations for the dinner dance.

Senior class officers in addition to the treasurer are: Loren Drum, president; Larry Hammer, vice-president, and Livi Bergman, secretary.

The next senior class meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 2, at 2:30 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

Continue Drive Another Week

The city-wide clothing drive, sponsored by University of Omaha's Arnold Air society in behalf of the Omaha Boy's club, has been extended another week. The drive, which started Monday, will end on Saturday, November 20 instead of November 13 as originally planned.

The AAS is asking for old clothes, grade and high school level books, athletic equipment, and workshop equipment. Anyone who wishes to donate is asked to contact the Cadet Staff Room, 553-4700, extension 313, or Clarke W. Powers, 346-1510.

KU's McKinney Helps Evaluate

Omaha University's Engineering Department will be in the spotlight next Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. Ross E. McKinney, Chairman of the Department of Civil Engineering at the University of Kansas, and Chairman of the Education Committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers will visit and offer his evaluation of O.U.'s Engineering Curriculum.

Anson Marston, OU Engineering Head, said Dr. McKinney is highly respected in the engineering education field.

Dr. McKinney's suggestions for the most education for the least money will be sought along with his general appraisal of the department's program.

See Musical Comedy

The musical comedy "Bye Bye Birdie" will be presented in the Ouampi Room at 3:00 on Monday. The movie will feature Janet Leigh, Dick Van Dyke, Bobby Rydell and Ann-Margaret.

The movie is one of several presented through the Student Center Program Committee. The last film, "Bridge on the River Kwai," drew a good-sized crowd, according to Mr. William Gerbracht, chairman of the Committee.

OU Speech Students Suggest Solutions To Parking Problem

After investigating and discussing the Omaha University parking problem in Speech 271, the students arrived at 11 ideas on how the problem might be alleviated.

They are as follows:

1. Administration obtain permission from near-by churches for students to use their parking facilities.
2. Administration obtain permission to use Ak-Sar-Ben parking facilities in conjunction with commercial shuttle service to accommodate the overflow of vehicles during the peak parking hours from 7 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.
3. Administration discover if a proportional amount of student classes can be equated for both morning and afternoon periods to even out the usage of the present parking facilities.
4. Stagger classes: reschedule classes for five days per week instead of the present three days; Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

5. Sell parking permits.
6. Limit issuance of parking permits to upper classmen.
7. Widen the present streets to allow diagonal parking and mark all streets one-way to allow snow removal.
8. Contract with private concern for multi-level parking facilities on or off-campus.
9. Make some streets on campus one-way to allow parking on both sides.
10. Make public plea to students to utilize public transportation or to walk whenever possible.
11. Administration apply pressure upon public transit system to improve and broaden transportation facilities to and from the University.

Oleson Asks OU Students To Use Counseling, Testing

Dr. Gale Oleson, head of the academic testing and counseling department, invites all OU students to take full advantage of his department's services.

"Especially after midterm grades have been issued," said Dr. Oleson, "many freshmen will find our testing and counseling a great help."

The department is a certified agency professionally competent to perform those counseling functions which focus on the guidance process. These functions deal with educational progress, occupations and careers, and other personal concerns.

"If a student is experiencing trouble adjusting to college life," said Dr. Oleson, "he should come see us so that we may try to see what the problem is and how to solve it."

Another major function of the department is its complete vocational-educational guidance program, offering assistance to students who have doubts about the field of study or occupation which they will pursue in future years.

"More than half of OU entering freshmen have little or no idea what their major will be," explained Dr. Oleson. "Even many sophomores and juniors, and sometimes even seniors, are confused as to their major field of study. We urge these students to see us as soon as possible."

"Of course," added Dr. Oleson, "with the seniors, it is probably too late in the ball game to ask for help now."

Losers, Claim Your Articles Chang Urges Students To Explore Economics

By Mary Concannon

If you have ever wondered whatever happened to something you might have lost, why not go to the bookstore and find out if one of their hundreds of lost and found articles might just be yours?

Bruce Bradbury, how can you do your readings in philosophy and psychology? Your books are in the lost and found department. Susan Brookstein, your Theory of Arithmetic text is there too, along with texts belonging to many other students.

The bookstore, the official lost and found department for the university, has collected umbrellas, sweatshirts, jackets, raincoats, an overnight kit, kleenex, and many books and notebooks. What surprises Mr. Ben Koenig, manager of the bookstore, is that people don't pick up the more valuable items, such as glasses, jewelry, watches and billfolds.

When articles are received by the bookstore, a record is kept of the article, and the time it is turned in. This record is kept at the front counter for handy reference. People looking for their lost articles are required to describe the article and sign for it. Positive identification is asked for before more valuable articles are returned.

Valuable articles are kept indefinitely. Expendable articles are kept at least a term, usually longer. Then they are distributed to various charitable organizations in the area.

Walter Slezak Will Speak At OU On Program Presented By CAE

Walter Slezak, star of stage, screen, radio, and television will speak on the topic, "Show Business Is No Business," Monday at 8 p.m. in the University auditorium.

The program, featuring Mr. Slezak, is sponsored by the College of Adult Education for CAE students.

Mr. Slezak was born in Vienna and spent his early years of study at the University of Vienna studying to be a doctor before he entered the world of show business.

Dr. Perry Chang, associate professor in the University of Omaha's department of economics, is particularly interested in preparing students for careers in economics.

Dr. Chang, a newcomer to the OU faculty, remarked, "I sincerely wish that more of today's students would explore the many fields in economics. In the future, this field will be highly specialized, but it will also offer students a challenge and opportunity to obtain a high-paying position with numerous excellent job opportunities."

To prepare OU students for

Observers See New Equipment

The Special Education department's faculty explained the new facilities and how they function, at an open house held yesterday.

There were tape-recorded demonstrations of actual interviews, therapy, and remedial sessions, so visitors could see how the facilities were utilized. Testing and evaluative materials were available for examination and the services of the clinic were explained.

The faculty was told that observations could be arranged to see various kinds of actual problems in areas such as remedial reading, speech correction, deaf education and psychological testing.

these jobs, Dr. Chang is teaching courses in basic economics and microeconomics. Moreover, OU's economics department is a progressive one—offering better library facilities in the economics field, building a better teaching staff and looking toward a graduate program within the department.

Born in China

Dr. Chang was born in China and came to the United States in 1948. With a broad range of education behind in the economics field, he received a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Washington.

A recent visit to his homeland allowed him to better compare the economies of the United States and China. Dr. Chang noted that the economic standards of China have changed considerably in the past 17 years, but added that there are still great problems due to scarcity of resources and the population explosion, so that the majority of the Chinese people live a life of deprivation.

Outside the classroom, Dr. Chang's interests are numerous, ranging from spectator sports to bridge. One of his biggest hobbies is hi-fi and he says he derives great enjoyment from listening to his extensive and growing record library.

High Schoolers Will Participate

One-hundred and fifty high schoolers will get a taste of speech activity in a college setting today and Saturday.

The students will participate in the Third Annual High School Invitational, sponsored by the OU Speech Department. Twenty-three schools from Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota will be represented on the OU campus in debate, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory and dramatic interpretation.

Trophies will be awarded to the top six debate teams competing in the "A" division, to the two top debate teams in the "B" division and to first and second place winners in each individual event. A sweepstakes trophy will be awarded to the team holding the best overall performance in all events.

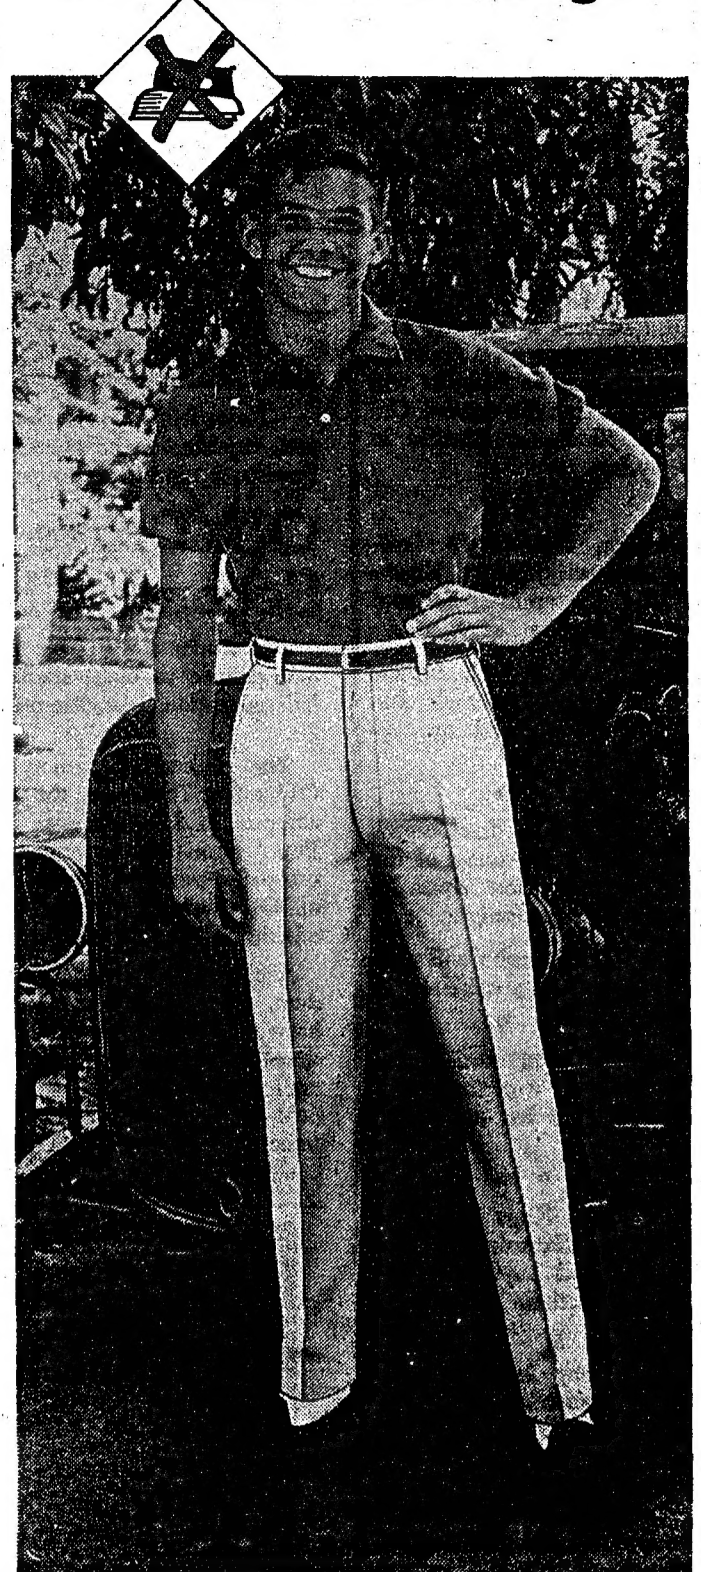

Coed Picked; Gains Honor

The Corinthians have named their scholar for the month of October. Their choice is Marjorie Ann Holmquist, a sophomore in the College of Teacher Education. She attends Omaha University on an Honors Scholarship and maintains a 3.75 grade point average. She plans to get a masters degree in Sociology or Psychology.

Marjorie was named outstanding Greek pledge for 1965. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority and serves on its rush board. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, is in Angel Flight, and is active in the Ipmatoes and Orchestras. Marjorie has served for two years on the Student Council.

OU Drake Game Set For Second Chance Migration

OU students will have a second chance to make their football migration a success on Nov. 20.

The chance will come when OU meets Drake on the Drake campus in Des Moines. Inter-Pep council is sponsoring a campaign to assure a large crowd of OU fans at the last game scheduled for this year.

According to Inter-Pep president, Jane Stockman, fans will have a chance to redeem themselves for the poor showing they made at the official migration held earlier this year and at the same time have a lot of fun.

"The official migration came at a bad time for some people," Jane said, "many were tied down with mid-terms and the bus we had chartered had to be cancelled because of lack of interest."

No bus will be chartered for the Drake game but fans are encouraged to drive. Des Moines is only a two hour drive from Omaha and the game will be played at 2:00 p.m.

"Since OU is one of the top ten small college teams in the nation, the players really deserve our support," Jane said.

Ski Club Plans For Annual Trip

Plans are beginning to jell for the annual Ski Club trip to Colorado.

Breckinridge Lodge has been chosen as the site for the trip which is scheduled over semester break.

Instead of taking just 50, the club has made arrangements to take 100 people this year if that many wish to go.

The approximate cost of the trip which includes four full days of skiing, three nights lodging and seven meals will be $75.00.

The Ski Club asks that those interested sign up and pay $30.00 by November 24.

OU International Club Honored by Junior Chamber of Commerce

The International Club participated in two events last week in an effort to increase interest in the club.

The club hosted a dinner for high school students from Burke High School to cultivate international interest at the high school level. The dinner was held in the Milo Bail Student Center on Wed. Nov. 3. Dr. R. Brown and M. F. Hazard were honored guests.

The Internationalists were honored themselves at a tea given by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce last week.

Over ninety people attended including foreign students from various schools. The tea which was held Nov. 4 at the Northern Natural Gas Company was to give the students a chance to get acquainted with each other and to see what Omaha has to offer.

Debaters Enter Meet at Bradley

University of Omaha students will run the gamut of speaking events as they participate in Bradley University's Invitational Meet, November 18-20, in Peoria, Illinois.

OU representatives will participate in three divisions of debate. Barb Stokes and Patricia Mullaney will be entered in a cross-examination debate. In senior debate, OU will be represented by Janet Voelte and Denny Adams on the affirmative side and by Marty Williams and Jim Foral, on the negative.

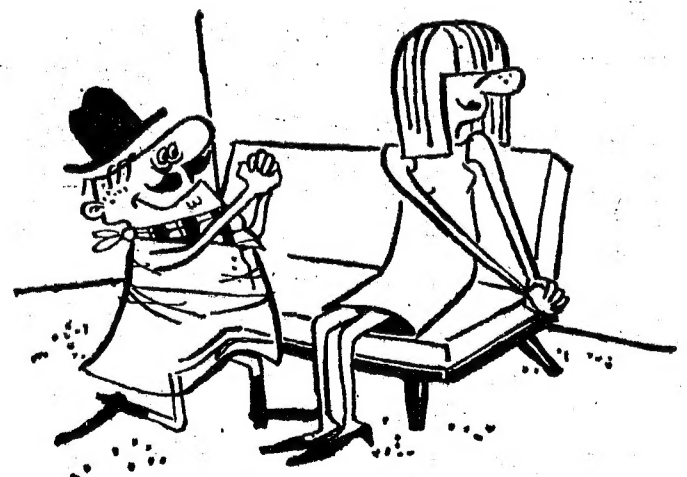

Novice debaters from OU include Susan Clarke and Carl Rudd, affirmative, and Larry Schueler and William Caffery, negative. The senior and novice teams will debate the 1965 Intercollegiate Topic, which is "Resolved: That law enforcement agencies in the U.S. should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime."

The debaters will also enter sections in discussion, original oratory, after-dinner speaking, radio newscasting, extemporaneous speaking, listening and oral interpretation. Representing OU in the latter category will be Pat Pease and Gary Johnson.

OU Hosts Clinic For High School Cheerers

Screams, cheers and noise will abound as 180 high school girls from area schools attend a cheerleading clinic Saturday on the OU campus.

Miss Sonia Green, women's physical education instructor at OU, will be in charge.
